REMARKS:

DCO Constantino has a covered outdoor shelter with access to an interior space (lean-to off the side of a shed). The interior space is heated through the wall by a wood stove located inside the shed. The interior space is not large enough to adequately accommodate all sizes of dogs, nor does it have a baffled door to keep heat adequately contained inside the interior space (however, a thin plastic curtain has been placed to help contain some heat). Due to these factors, this shelter space is not permitted to be used for unacclimated dogs or in inclement weather. In the event of inclement weather or for an unacclimated dog, DCO Constantino has a large wire kennel he can assemble in a heated area of his home, out of the way of general traffic and personal pets.
